

PRAYERS OF THE PEOPLE

Bulletin

The Second Sunday after Pentecost

June 19, 2022

WE HOLD THE FOLLOWING COMMUNITIES, MINISTRIES, AND PEOPLE IN PRAYER. During the Prayers of the People in our worship services we bring before God the needs of others and of ourselves. It is our privilege. It is our duty as followers of Jesus. We ask you to remember these requests before God through the week as well.

WE PRAY FOR OUR COMMUNITY AND THE WORLD

FOR THE PEOPLE OF UKRAINE

God of peace and justice, we pray for the people of Ukraine today.

We pray for those who fear for tomorrow: may your Spirit of comfort draw near to them and those whom they love.

We pray for those with power over war and peace: instill them with godly wisdom, discernment, and compassion.

We pray for all your precious children, at risk and in fear: hold and protect them.

Most of all we pray for peace and the laying down of weapons.

All this we ask in the name of Jesus, the Prince of Peace. Amen.

FOR REFUGEES FROM WAR AND DANGER

Lord God, no one is a stranger to you, and no one is far from your loving care. In your kindness, watch over victims and refugees of war; those fleeing their homes and communities; and those separated from their loved ones. Be present with those who find themselves lost in chaos and confusion: grant them rescue, shelter, and answers. Have mercy upon your children and bring them back safely to the place where they long to be. Inspire us to show your kindness to strangers and to all in need. We ask this in the name of Christ who was a refugee from danger. Amen.

FOR OUR LEADERS

We pray for Joseph, our president. We pray for the leaders of the nations around the globe, and we pray for those in authority under them. Give them the gift of your wisdom, and a right discernment in all things.

Prayers of the People

Rite II, 10 a.m.

The Second Sunday after Pentecost

June 19, 2022

Litany of Repentance for Racism, and the Prayers of the People

A Litany of Repentance for Racism

Deacon: Let us not rush the language of healing,

People: before understanding the fullness of the injury and the depth of the wound.

Deacon: Let us not rush to offer a band-aid,

People: when the gaping wound requires surgery and complete reconstruction.

Deacon: Let us not offer false equivalencies,

People: diminishing the particular pain being felt in a particular circumstance in a particular historical moment.

Deacon: Let us not speak reconciliation without speaking of reparations and restorations,

People: or how we can repair the breach and restore the loss.

Deacon: Let us not rush past the death of a child,

People: someone's beloved son, someone's beloved daughter.

Deacon: Let us not offer clichés to the grieving,

People: to those whose hearts are being torn asunder.

Deacon: Let us not value property over people,

People: elevating our rights and possessions while lives hang in the balance.

Deacon: Let us not value a false peace over righteous justice,

People: instead, we must bravely sit with the ugliness, messiness, and pain in the community.

Deacon: Let us mourn black and brown lives,
People: killed extrajudicially every 28 hours.

Deacon: Let us lament the loss of a man,
People: dead at the hands of police officers who describe him as a demon.

Deacon: Let us confront the laws and systems that
People: produce an outcome of 28.5% of black men being incarcerated during their lifetime.

Deacon: Let us weep at a criminal justice system that People: is neither blind nor just.

Deacon: Let us listen with open ears and hearts,
People: to the pain, rage, and grief pouring from our friends and neighbors.

Deacon: Let us decrease,
People: so that those who live on the underside of history may increase.

Deacon: Let us call for the mourning men and wailing women,
People: who rend their garments of privilege and sit in the ashes of our nation's sin.

Deacon: Let us listen to the shattering glass and let us smell the purifying fires,
People: for it is the language of the unheard.

Deacon: Let us pray with our eyes open,
People: and our feet firmly planted on the ground.

Deacon: As we are able, let us kneel before our Creator and ask for God's mercy upon us.
All: Show us our complicity in injustice, convict us of our indifferences, forgive us when we have remained silent, equip us with righteous zeal, let us never acclimate to unrighteousness.

In mercy and love, God forgive us,
Jesus inspire us, Spirit renew us. Ase [Amen]
